Greeting to all 3B families!

We have finished the SBAC testing!! We thank the PTO for providing snacks and gum during the testing. It was greatly appreciated.

We have moved into big number multiplication in math. We are still working with money and rounding. We are practicing math fact fluency everyday. Any help at home with learning these all important facts is greatly appreciated!!!

Students wrote a realistic fiction piece about their sugaring experience. These are very good, accurate, and very imaginative!!! We also enjoyed a waffle party with the help of Mrs. Kniffin.

April is Poetry month. Students choose poems each day to include in their Poem in your Pocket journal. There is a lot of sharing and illustrating of poems all month.

We have begun our last "mega" unit combining habitat studies and the history of Hartford. This week I used three picture books to introduce the idea of habitat destruction. Students chose a habitat from the world to create a poster to encourage these book characters to visit their habitat. Some also created slideshows about their habitat.

Students brought home some information about an autobiography they will be writing after vacation. They will need your help, only with some details about their birth and family. These are only simple notes, not full length written pieces.

Students will need a clear soda bottle for a science inquiry.

If you have old magazines, please send them in for another science activity.

As always, there is no homework over the break!!! Enjoy!!!
